

Lion Country Safari LCSI: Solve the Mystery Creative Activity

Paleontologists use evidence such as skeletons and trace fossils like footprints to make inferences and recreate prehistoric crime scenes. Below is a picture of three different sets of footprints. The black ones represent a large carnivore, the orange is a large herbivore, and the smaller yellow is a second smaller herbivore. Using your skills in observation, draw a picture of what you think happened.

